And now a few words from me:

Hi, I'm Casey! I'm a happy dude with a bit of an attitude; that's what my foster mom says anyway. I'm affectionate with her and like scratches, belly rubs and licking her ankles. While I like her, I don't like everyone, especially strangers. I love treats and toys but can become possessive of them if a human or dog enters my bubble. You see, I love toys, treats and my space so much I'm afraid others will take them from me, and I become protective. I also enjoy walks and car rides, especially car rides! I'm nine years young and still very energetic and agile. I like playing fetch though I only drop the ball on my own terms, and I do not like when someone tries to take my toys from me, unless I give them up willingly.

And now a few words from my foster family:

Casey is a special little guy! He's been nothing but sweet with his foster mom but is not friendly with strangers. He doesn't like meeting people and will snap if reached for. He will need an advocate to make sure others respect his space and boundaries. He's very smart and learns quickly. He'll do anything for a treat but be careful feeding it to him; he gets excited and could nip your hand. The best way to give him a treat is to drop it on the floor in front of him. Casey may be getting older but he's still got lots of spunk and energy! He's playful and loves going for walks and roaming around in the backyard. He's also got a big bark for a tiny dog and he's not afraid to use his voice whenever he has something to say, which is often.

Casey will require a strict owner who will give him boundaries and work on training him to help him overcome his issues with resource guarding.
